- If you have no pairs, play whatever straight or flush allows you to keep the two highest cards possible in the front.
- If you have a straight or flush with 6-7 cards that can be used in that hand, play the lowest possible straight or flush.
- If you have a pair, only play that pair in the front if you can still play a straight or flush in the back.
- If you have two pair, three pair, or a full house, use the rules for those hands.
- If you have three of a kind, always play the pair in front.
