Centrebet displays all odds in the decimal format, which is the preferred format in Australia. In order to read these odds, simply take the displayed number and multiply it by the amount you plan to bet. The result is the amount of money you'll have if you should win the bet – including your initial bet. For instance, if you bet $10 on a bet that has listed odds of 2.50, you can expect to have $25 if you win the bet: your initial $10 and $15 in additional winnings.
