Summary: Good race to finish off and have plenty of belief that Duke Of Brunswick can top the day off as a winner. His first two runs this campaign have been very good and he will improve significantly into this off a shorter back-up. He is two from four third-up and never runs a bad race at Caulfield. He is the class in the race. There is nothing wrong with Smart Dart's form, with the only concern being his first trip over the 1400m. Looks as though it shouldn't be too much of a worry. Charlie Boy's run on the Gold Coast was reasonable and he can improve greatly second-up for his new stable. The fairytale would see Darren Gauci win his final race as a jockey on Longeron. There will be a point in the straight where Gauch will have him leading them, but it's hard to see them holding out these horses first-up. Longeron will be competitive however.
